WAFFLES, WOODARD AND WELCOME WEEK

From Aug. 16–24, Auburn University held its annual Welcome Week, the university's official welcome to new and returning students. The week was packed with 113 entertaining and informative events for students.

One event that always stands out is Waffles with Woodard, where Student Affairs Senior Vice President Dr. Bobby Woodard serves students by serving food from Waffle House. This fun-filled event, which took place on Aug. 22, attracted 836 students with free waffles, bacon, hash browns and orange juice.

"Waffles with Woodard is definitely one of the best events that Auburn puts on," Auburn student Candler Yeilding says. "I'm always down for free food, and breakfast food is my favorite. I got to sit on the Green Space and catch up with my friends, which was a nice break from my busy schedule."
